CELEBRATE

FCC has traditionally honored all of our graduates one Sunday each year. The past two COVID years has made this difficult. But, we want to bring this tradition back for 2022. On Sunday, May 22, during our worship service, we will present our graduates with a card and show them our love.

Following the worship service and prior to Sunday School, we will have a brief reception with cupcakes and coffee. Please join us as we celebrate our grads!

“Breaking Home Ties” 5/17/2022

I am a fan of Norman Rockwell paintings. Each one is so detailed and tells a beautiful story. Graduation always brings to my mind a 1954 painting, done for the cover of the September 25th edition of The Saturday Evening Post. It is called “Breaking Home Ties”. Depicted are a young man and his father sitting on the running board of the family’s old ranch truck. There is a ticket peeking out of the boy’s pocket. His suitcase and trunk are waiting on the boardwalk. They are at a whistle stop, waiting for a train. The son’s eager gaze is looking over his father’s head, presumably toward his future. His face shows anticipation, hope and opportunity. His suitcase proudly proclaims, “State U”. His suit is neatly pressed. He is ready for his new life at college.

The father, not so much. He sits slumped over. His gaze is in the opposite direction. He is wearing worn work clothes. A red flag and lantern are ready to signal the train to stop. His face wears the lessons of a hard life. He is clutching both his work hat and his son’s hat, as if to hold on to his son just a bit longer. They sit close to each other, and the dog’s chin hugs the boy’s knee, as if to demonstrate that family ties are strong. Children grow up. As much as it pains parents, our responsibility is to let them spread their wings.

There is a spiritual parallel here. One day, Jesus told His disciples that they would have to spread the gospel message without Him physically walking the journey with them. He knew they were facing spiritual wolves and hypocrites. Yet there is hope. The Holy Spirit will be there to keep the ties to our heavenly home strong.

Mike
